

violence
research
science
gender
share
women
rape
learn domestic sexual
abuse
forced prostitution
harassment
international acid throwing
genital
emotional
coercion
marriage
slavery
trafficking
family
intimidation
pregnancy
global armed murder
practices
harmful psychological
rape
girls
domestic members
war
sexual
abusive burning
conflict

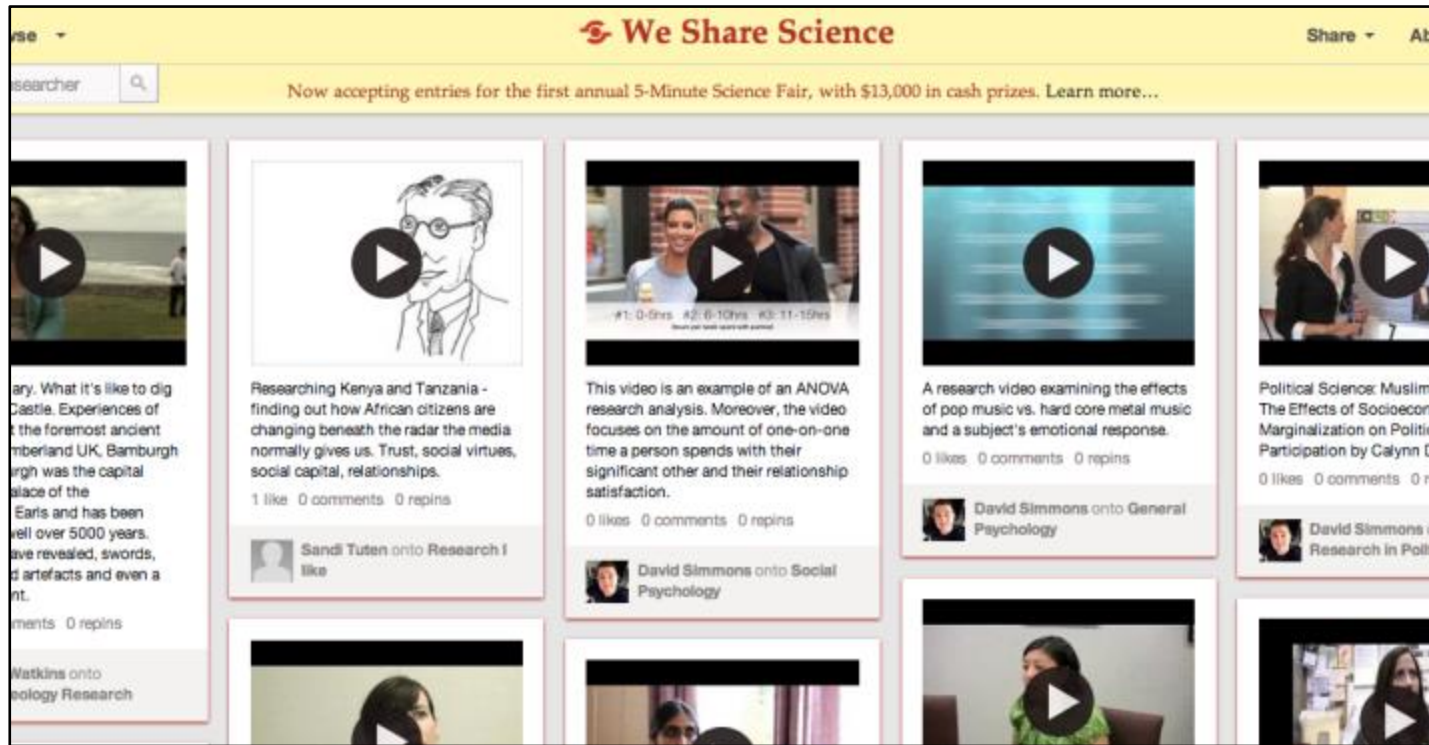

The Global
Women's Institute

THE GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

Launch of the GBV Research Science Fair

Diana J. Arango
Global Women's Institute
George Washington University

What is WeShareScience?

Pinterest

Science Fair

Short Videos

Promoting Research on Gender Based Violence

- SVRI and GWI partnering to support GBV researchers
- Share your research broadly
- Promote Safe and Ethical research on all aspects of Gender-based violence
- $$$ prize to those with the best video
- $1000 USD to the winner and a chance to win up to $4000 USD
- WeShareScience.com/gbv

Step One: Decide

- Video abstracts are 5 minutes
  - Introduction
  - What it is about
  - Where
  - Who
  - Where to learn more – your contact info

Step Two: Create

- Create a video abstract with us here during the 2013 Forum
  - Advantage: We will work with you to create the video abstract and post it to WeShareScience

Enter During SVRI Forum 2013

Click here to schedule a time to record your video abstract.

- Create a video abstract on your own during or after SVRI

Slides?

- Slides or No Slides (Your Choice)
  - You can create WeShareScience slides at the time of recording, but write out your bullet points before

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the URL wesharescience.com/Create-Video-Abstract. The page header includes the We Share Science logo and navigation links for Search, Browse, About, and Login. A banner below the header reads "A free site for those interested in science!" and "Now accepting entries for the 5-Minute Science Fair, with $13,000 in cash prizes. Learn more...". There are also links for "Search or Browse" and "Login or Join For More Options. It's Free!".

The main content area features four slide color options: Purple, Red, Waves, and Bubbles, each with a corresponding thumbnail image. Below these are two columns of form fields for creating a slide:

Check here to use this slide: <input type="checkbox"/>	Check here to use this slide: <input type="checkbox"/>
Slide One	Slide Two
Title of Research: <input type="text"/>	Title: <input type="text" value="Research Questions"/>
Author name(s): <input type="text"/>	Bullet 1: <input type="text"/>
Your name (if not author): <input type="text"/>	Bullet 2: <input type="text"/>
Today's date: <input type="text"/>	Bullet 3: <input type="text"/>
	Bullet 4: <input type="text"/>

A "Scroll to Top" button is located in the bottom right corner of the page.

Step Three: Submit

- Upload the video that you created to YouTube
  - With the WeShareScience tool, a cell phone, a video camera, or here with us
  - Your YouTube account, or our account
- Link the YouTube video to WeShareScience
  - Create a WeShareScience account to add video abstract, or
  - We will walk you through it if you create it here and send you your YouTube link

YouTube

We Share Science

Copyright?

- Video abstracts are saved on YouTube servers and publically available
- The content is yours
- Creating a video abstract will not violate copyright agreements of previously published articles
- You can publish articles on the research later on without worries

Recap

- Join WeShareScience (its free)
  - Create a new account, or link securely through your Facebook or Twitter account
- Create boards, share research, discuss finding, etc.
- Create a video and enter it to the SVRI – GWI GBV Science Fair
- Win $$$